CENTRAL KY WARRIORS

Over the last four years the Central KY Warriors have solidified themselves as one of the best teams in the country. Traveling across the country, seeking the best tournaments and the best competition, has rewarded this team. This is a team that plays a full game and never are they out of a game. This season the Warriors won their fourth consecutive AAU state championship with a come from behind win over the N. KY Tarheels. The victory guaranteed the Warriors the #1 overall seed for the National Championship for the second consecutive year. This team is anchored by it's steady, do everything, point guard Christen Cunningham, versatile swing players, Trey Grundy and Jordan Green, as well as two of the most dominant post players in this age group in Mustafa Diaw and Dakari Johnson. Talent runs deep on this team. Teddy Ware is almost automatic from 3-point range, while Donnie Lewis, Alex Miller and Devin Hairston provide intensity on defense and slashing ability on offense. Jordan Henry is a consummate backup at the point position. This team is poised and ready to make another run for the championship this season in Cocoa Beach!

SOUTH FLORIDA WILDCATS

The South Florida Wildcats is a new team based in Parkland, Florida. The team was organized by Darryl L. Lewis, Attorney and native of Lexington, Kentucky, Damon Arnette, former NBA player and John Tolan who is the acting head coach. The organization has a 4th and 5th grade team. The 4th grade team is ranked 2nd in the State of Florida. The 5th grade team is currently ranked 10th in the State of Florida. The 5th grade team has recently beaten the 2nd ranked team in Florida and the 3rd ranked team in Florida earlier in May, 2007. The 5th grade South Florida Wildcats lost a close hard fought game against the #1 ranked 5th grade team, Ft. Myers Tigers, in a recent shoot out held on May 12, 2007. The South Florida Wildcats are lead by their guards. They run a three guard set lead by Taariq Lewis, Jose Morales and Sean Downes. They are as fast as they come. Sean Downes and Jose Morales are only 4th graders but you would never know by watching them play. Sean Downes, even as a 4th grader may be the best player on the floor when playing at the 5th grade level.

HOUSTON SELECT

Houston Select, formerly the Houston Jaguars, have proven themselves to be a valid contender on the national level. Houston Select 2014 look to the road in 2006, initially underestimated, but proving themselves time and time again as they traveled across the country in and effort to find the best competition, with one goal in mind — a National Championship. Houston Select continues its reign as the Texas Gulf Association's AAU Champions for the third year in a row. This team is known for its quick defense and never quit attitude, but they have a number of offensive weapons which challenge any team. Houston Select truly exemplifies its chant "One Team, One Dream" and never ever again to be underestimated.

LEXINGTON BLAZE

Originally out of the North Lexington YMCA, the Lexington Blaze team has been a fixture in the Central KY region as a competitive hard playing group of kids. Very "scrappy" and always on the verge of completing the spectacular, this group of kids will excite you with their energy and competitive spirit. The Blaze are led by their ultra quick point guard Charles "Snoop" Johnson. Johnson is supported in the back court by smooth shooting Xavier Piersawf and the slick handles of Daquice Jackson. Lequan Johnson and Jalen Boyd add muscle to the Blaze's interior game and Jarek Coles is an all-around, do everything swing player.

DC ASSAULT

DC Assault, formerly known as Slam-N-Jam, of the Potomac Valley District comes into the WNP with impressive credentials, including winning their district qualifier, thereby earning a bid to the 2007 11 & Under AAU National Championship tournament in Cocoa Beach. In winning the Potomac Valley Championship, DC Assault defeated last year's regional and national champion, the DC Warriors. With this win DC Assault secured the overall 6th seed for the 2007 National Championship. Anyone that knows anything about AAU basketball, knows that some of the best teams come from the Washington, DC area, and this DC Assault team is one of those teams. This aggressive and skilled group of young men will treat you to basketball at it's highest level for this age group. The team is led by two of the best perimeter players in the DC area, Corey Henson and Jalen Houchins. DC Assault plays some of the best competition in the country, and they boast wins over several of the top - 10 teams already this year.

INDY ICE

Although, the core group of kids on this team has been playing together for the past 3 years, 2006 - 2007 marks their first year together as a AAU team. Each one of these players has enjoyed success on the national level. Over the past three seasons, ice players have participated on teams that have finished as high as 2nd in National AAU Tournament. They are led by one the best pure shooters in the nation for this age division, LaSalle "PJ" Thompson IV. Additionally, the team is anchored by one of the most versatile big men in the nation, Kendall Rollins. In no way is that to diminish the skills of the remaining 10 players, as all of these kids are expertly trained and skilled as individual basketball players. 12 STRONG !!! THAT'S THE ICE MOTTO. When putting this team together the coaches wanted to change the personality of the player's former AAU teams to one that places a greater emphasis on the defensive end of the court. So far it has paid dividends for the team as they qualified for nationals by finishing as runner-up in the 2007 IN state championship, thereby earning the 8th overall seed in Cocoa Beach. ICE DDD! You will enjoy the "24 minutes of Hell" imposed on opposing teams by this band of Hooslers!

NORTHERN KY TAR HEELS

The goal of the Northern Kentucky Tar Heels AAU Program is excellence. Excellence is what they provide. Known for their full out assault on both ends of the court, this team's relentless pressure has the tendency to cause teams to fold early in games. The Northern Kentucky Tar Heels have been in existence for many years and they consistently compete at a high level. The Tar Heels have attended the AAU National Championship for the past four years. Though the Tar Heels have not won a championship yet, they continue to strive for excellence. This year, the Tar Heels were state runner-up behind the Central Kentucky Warriors. The Tar Heels are led by Zachary McCormick, a versatile, well-rounded player with great hops, Brandon Hatton, one of the best pure shooters in this age group, and Jalen Avery, a great ball handler with good moves to the basket. Additionally, the Tar Heels are anchored by dynamite defenders, DaQuan Palmer and Aaron Morgan and top rebounders Jalen Beal, Blake Simpson and Kameron Crim.

THE SHIRLEY ALLEN CUNNINGHAM, JR., FAMILY FOUNDATION

The Shirley A. Cunningham, Jr., Family Foundation (SACFF) was established to enhance the total academic, athletic and leadership abilities of area youth. Activities at the SACFF started well over 15 years ago with the sponsorship of several basketball teams for boys. Over the years, girls' basketball teams were added. It is common that participants will start with a team at approximately 7 years of age and continue team participation through middle school. Repeatedly, the teams have ranked among the top 25 in the nation for Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) Leagues. A lifelong dream and milestone for the Foundation was achieved in late 2002 with the opening of the 12,000 square foot state of the art facility to house the SACFF.

The Central KY Warriors AAU club has been formed to provide Central KY boys with above average basketball skills, a chance to play on a team with other competitive players, and against other competitive teams. We are members of the national AAU and Kentucky AAU organizations.

MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of the Central KY Warriors is to provide the youth of the Lexington and Central Kentucky community with the opportunity team and enjoy basketball at the highest competitive level. Our program is designed to develop skillful play, promote good sportsmanship, team spirit, and team loyalty. The Central KY Warriors demand a high degree of ethical conduct by all its coaches, players, volunteers, and parents so that it provides a positive example for the community, the opponents, and it's participants, in our players' growth and development into adulthood.

It is the further mission of the Central KY Warriors to cooperate and participate with other youth basketball organizations currently operating youth basketball programs including but not limited to AAU, AACC, BCI, USTOC, and YBOA.
